

REGULATORY AFFAIRS TEAM LEADER

BERN, SWITZERLAND

THE COMPANY AND THE ROLE

With over 30 years experience they are at the forefront of innovation in diabetes care and are present across the globe employing approximately 1700 people worldwide. Despite their global reach, they have maintained a strong close knit community in their offices in Switzerland; providing for a great working environment.

As a result of their investment into new product development projects, they are looking for an experienced regulatory team manager to join their growing team. You will gain a role with a company that truly believes in their development and fulfillment of their employees.

You will be working on cutting-edge technology while also managing a team of experts within regulatory affairs. So if you are looking for a role where you can be a key contributor and manager of a team, while also maintaining a hands on role with innovative medical devices, then look no further!

AS REGULATORY AFFAIRS TEAM LEADER YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES WILL INCLUDE:

- Lead and develop a team of 5 regulatory experts.
- Collaborate on new product development projects from a regulatory aspect
- Prepare regulatory documents and register medical devices and combination products focusing on European and US markets
- Communicate, liaise and drive relationships with authorities such as Notified Bodies and Competent Authorities
- Evaluate change requests
- Support various quality activities such as audits, creating quality documents, participate in trainings and more

YOU WILL HAVE:

- 5+ years experience within regulatory affairs for medical devices.
- Expertise within combination or digital devices would be a bonus.
- Good experience within team management. We will also accept applicants who have strong project management experience looking for a step up into team management.
- Excellent international registration experience.
- Strong communication skills in both English and German.

Ensure you apply now to find out more about this excellent managerial opportunity within an internationally growing medical device company.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS POSITION,
PLEASE CONTACT TAMANNA@ELEMED.EU
FOR A CONFIDENTIAL CAREER DISCUSSION.

Elemed is an executive search firm, specialized in finding and representing exceptional talent in medtech.